"The Na'vi have a closeness and community that we, in our solitary, high-tech squalor, have lost on earth.
If we learn nothing else, we must learn again to trust when everything in our diminished lives says we can't."

Now that governments lacked courage in Copenhagen, the UK release of the 'Age of Stupid' is a call to reduce consumption. Reduced consumption can increase the quality of life if we become more consciously inter-dependent in our world (and less dependent on the well-being of an unsustainable economic system).

The 'Age of Stupid' (starring Pete Postlethwaite) film is about the world in 2055; though the exact date of that level of environmental and cultural destruction is of course dependent on what you do with this leaflet.

"I see you, I depend on you and I'm looking for something bigger than a 'win-win' outcome.
Let's work together for systemic win i.e. No losers."

Whatever you want, ask to borrow it.
Whatever you have to share, offer it.
Gain friends and build trust locally.
