

Focus.

We all have priorities. We all have certain responsibilities and opportunities that we consider the most important. In the pressures of everyday living, we often find ourselves spending too much time dealing with the things that aren't the most important. That's where FranklinCovey can help.

This 31-Day Sample FranklinCovey Planner will help you discover how millions of people worldwide stay focused on their highest priorities and, as a result, achieve greater productivity. No more will you find yourself "busy" all day but look back and feel that you didn't accomplish anything. Study the steps and hints included in this sample. Try it out for a month. We're confident that when you see the difference one month of being organized can make, you'll want to know more. And we'll be ready to help.

Getting to Know Your FranklinCovey Planner

This 31-day Sample FranklinCovey Planner is formatted just like the world-famous two-pages-per-day FranklinCovey Planning Pages, so you can "test drive" the tool millions use to achieve greater productivity. It also includes introductions to other valuable ideas, products, and resources. Be sure to familiarize yourself with these concepts—and the great sense of accomplishment that accompanies them.

Meet the FranklinCovey Planning System

The FranklinCovey Planning System is just that—an entire system for organizing the different aspects of your life. Much more than a date book, the FranklinCovey Planning System consists of several components which work together for comprehensive life management:

1. PLANNING PAGES

The tabs and pages you need to schedule daily and advance events, track prioritized tasks, and reference important notes and commitments.

2. STARTER PACK

The starter pack includes non-dated reference materials to help you manage detailed personal information, strengthen your roles and relationships, track important names and addresses, adapt the planning system to your individual needs, and ultimately accomplish your goals.

3. STORAGE BINDER

The storage binder offers the most convenient way to store pages for future months and archive past months for ongoing reference.

4. BINDERS AND ACCESSORIES

Protect and personalize your planning pages with a binder and accessories that suit both your style and the way you work.

Order Your Own FranklinCovey Planning System Today

FOCUS: Achieving Your Highest Priorities

The FranklinCovey® Planning System is an important tool to implement proven principles of effectiveness and personal productivity. Produced by FranklinCovey, the premier provider of time management and life leadership training, the FranklinCovey Planning System is also coupled with the time management principles presented in our NEW flagship workshop, FOCUS: Achieving Your Highest Priorities. (See page 84 for workshop information.)

- Identify who you are, what you value most, and what you want to do with your life.
- Set goals that coincide with your values and create a time frame for achieving them.
- Plan weekly using the FranklinCovey Planning System as your road map.
- Plan daily to achieve your highest priorities.

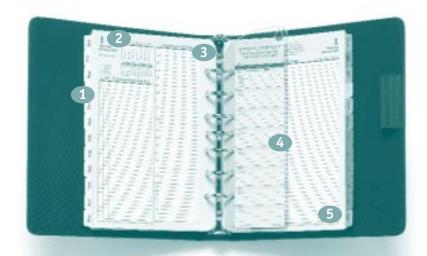

In addition, in the Focus workshop from FranklinCovey, workshop participants discover how to clarify, focus, and execute on the highest priorities—personally and professionally. The Focus workshop is taught in public workshops nationwide or customized for organizations.

To get the most out of your FranklinCovey Planning System, enroll in a Focus workshop. Call (888) 754-1776 for more information.

Organize and Access Information Quickly

The most important and most frequently used features of the FranklinCovey planner are available instantly—all on today's page.

Prioritized Daily Task List

List what you want and need to accomplish today. Prioritize by importance, not just urgency.

Legend of Symbols

Symbols help record progress on the day's tasks.

Daily Appointment Schedule

Hours are divided into intervals to help allocate your time.

Weekly Compass*

Support your commitment to improvement in each of your key roles and responsibilities by keeping your weekly goals prominent every day. Weekly Compass cards are included with this 31-day sample.

Daily Notes

Plenty of space to record meeting notes, important conversations, ideas, and any other pertinent information.

Available in Four Sizes

The FranklinCovey planner is available in four sizes: Pocket, Compact, Classic, and Monarch. Choose the size and format that best suits your needs. This sample planner is Classic size.

POCKE1

Page size 3¹/₂" x 6" (89 mm x 153 mm)

COMPACT

Page size $4^{1}/_{2}^{x} \times 6^{3}/_{4}^{x}$ (108 mm x 172 mm)

CLASSIC

Page size 5½" x 8½" (140 mm x 216 mm)

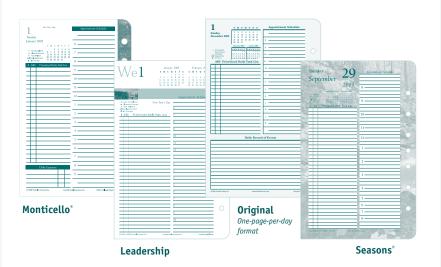

MONARCH

Page size 8½" x 11" (216 mm x 280 mm)

Distinctive Designs

A wide variety of distinctive, beautiful designs are available to meet a broad range of tastes, lifestyles, and interests. New designs are introduced frequently.

UNDATED MONTHLY CALENDAR— First, fill in the dates for the month. Next, record events that require you to physically be in a specific place at a specific time. Finally, record each commitment on the corresponding daily page.

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday

MASTER TASK LIST—The Master Task List is where you keep tasks that you need to accomplish during the month but are unsure about when you will complete them. List everything you want or need to accomplish personally and professionally. Key assignments, household projects, and important tasks are perfect for the Master Task List.

Master Task List
	Personal		Business

MONTHLY INDEX— Use the monthly index as a table of contents for information recorded on your daily notes for the month. By summarizing information in the monthly index, you won't have to search through every page of your planner when you need to access information quickly.

Defining Values

The FranklinCovey planner is designed so you can plan your everyday activities in harmony with your deepest values—the core principles that govern your behavior. Your mission statement is a great start to identifying and clarifying your values. All FranklinCovey planners contain a Values form like this one to record your values, which in turn are used to help you create meaningful long-range and intermediate goals. A sample form is provided for your use on the following page.

Values

Value: Professionalism
Clarifying Statement:	[do excellent work every day.
	I am open to the ideas of others.
	I have a positive attitude.
	I am a team player.
Value: Fitness

Writing a Mission Statement

One of the most powerful methods to cultivate a life of purpose and vision is to create and live by a Personal Mission Statement, philosophy, or creed. Such statements capture what you want in life—qualities you want to develop, what you want to accomplish, and what contributions you want to make. Clarity on these issues is critical. It affects the goals you set, the decisions you make, the views you hold, and the ways you spend your time.

A mission statement based on correct principles becomes a standard for an individual. A personal constitution, it is the basis for making life-directing decisions as well as daily decisions in the midst of circumstances and emotions that affect your life.

Don't become overwhelmed by the task of writing a mission statement. First, write a rough draft and refine it over the next several weeks or months. To help you get started, ask yourself the following questions:

- What would I really like to be and do in my life?
- What are my greatest strengths?
- How do I want to be remembered?
- Who is the one person who has made the greatest positive impact in my life?
- What have been my happiest moments in life?
- If I had unlimited time and resources, what would I do?

Because each individual is unique, a mission statement will reflect that uniqueness, both in content and form. An effective mission statement may consist of a few words or several pages. Mission statements can be written in poetry, prose, music, or art, and written for individuals, couples, families, or organizations.

Writing a mission statement is not a "to do" list to be checked off. To be empowering, it has to become a living document. You must ponder it, memorize it, review it, update it, and write it into your heart and mind.

Mission Statement Workshop

This mission statement workshop may be used to help you create a mission statement or to examine your current mission statement. The questions are designed to help you think deeply about your life.

Determining Roles

You live your life in terms of many roles—at work, in your family, in your community, and in other areas of your life. Use the sample Roles form provided on the next page to define your roles.

Some areas of your life, such as your profession, may involve several roles. You may have one role in administration, one in marketing, and one in athletic coaching. Project yourself forward in time and write a brief statement of how you would most like to be described in each particular role. By writing these descriptive statements, you will begin to visualize your highest self and identify the values you want to live by.

Roles

Role: Administrator Key people related to this role: Manager-Maren, Sales-Rob Clarifying Statement: I communicate with my coworkers in a clear, open, and timely manner. I cooperate with my coworkers to define goals and then trust them to fulfill their responsibilities. I am always available to help. Role: Marketer Key people related to this role: Marketing Director-Jon, Sales-Sally Clarifying Statement: I am aware of the latest marketing trends and what our competitors are doing. I promote innovation within our group to anticipate market demand and provide new products and services. Role: Coach Key people related to this role: Assistant-Doug, players Clarifying Statement: I love soccer and appreciate the benefits of the sport. I will pass this on to the players. I am a guidance counselor, not a dictator.

Setting Goals

Long-range goals are dreams with deadlines. They provide a link between your core values and your weekly and daily activities. By organizing long-range goals into smaller, more manageable steps, you consistently accomplish what matters most in your life. Weekly planning helps you incorporate these smaller steps into your week and day. Daily planning enables you to prioritize your daily tasks and stay focused.

To set an effective long-range goal, ask yourself three vital questions:

- What do I want to accomplish?
- Why do I want to do it?
- How will I do it?

FOCUS

ACHIEVING YOUR HIGHEST PRIORITIES

Learn to Identify, Focus on, and Execute Your Highest Priorities on a Day-by-Day Basis

Picture yourself making a meaningful impact on the job every day—free from the mire of information overload and competing demands on your time. Imagine balancing all your roles at work and at home more effectively. When you are focused on your highest priorities, you leave little room for crisis, stress, and frustration.

Helping you rise to a new level of productivity is what the FOCUS: Achieving Your Highest Priorities workshop is all about. In one day, you can improve your performance, reduce stress, and learn how to use the FranklinCovey Planning System to stay focused long after your training is finished. Expert presenters, thought-provoking videos, group discussion, and hands-on exercises teach you the essential skills you'll need.

- Explore what you value most and what you want most to accomplish in your lifetime.
- Prioritize your weeks and days to coincide with your goals and maintain balance in all your roles both at work and at home.
- Maintain focus using the FranklinCovey Planning System as your daily road map.

FOCUS: Achieving Your Highest Priorities is taught in public workshops nationwide or can be customized for your organization. CALL (888) 754-1776 for more information.
